STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES

- The committee system must encourage and accomplish shared governance by involving all college personnel in the planning and execution of college policies and procedures.
- Each committee must improve the efficiency of the college and help it achieve our mission of student success.
- Each committee must encourage and assist the free exchange of ideas and information.
- Excepting those committees which conduct hearings or other proceedings involving student or personnel issues, all committee meetings are to be open to all college employees, and all committee proceedings must be reported to the college community.
- Representation on committees must be broad, inclusive, and fair. Members should be drawn to provide representation from all campuses and off-campus sites as well as from a variety of departments and work units. Committee staffing should seek to achieve rotation in membership and fairly shared responsibilities.
- Initiatives for changes in college policy and procedures must be discussed and evaluated by those affected or involved, and committees must ensure that this occurs.
- Committees must seek to make effective use of the talents and skills of faculty, staff, and administrators.
- College committees will be formed only to deal with matters which are of college-wide scope or involve members from many operating units of the college. Individual units of the college are encouraged to form working groups for more narrowly defined purposes.

TYPES OF COMMITTEES

1. Standing Committees are staffed annually and function on an ongoing basis. There are two types:
 - a. Executive Committees carry out particular tasks which require broad cooperation from employees across the college. Members are selected to represent the entire college.
 - b. Advisory Committees serve to ensure that proposals for changes in college policies and procedures are given careful consideration by those employees whose work would be affected and who are best placed to judge the effect of the proposed changes on student success. The purpose of each of these committees is to ensure that new initiatives are appropriate for the college and are implemented successfully. Members are drawn from the work units likely to be affected by policy and procedure changes appropriate to each committee.
2. Ad hoc committees are formed as needed to provide advice or proposals to the college on specific questions and issues that arise from time to time. These committees will be of limited duration and be disbanded once their task is completed. In no case shall an ad hoc committee function for more than one year. If the committee's task is deemed incomplete at that time, a new committee must be formed and staffed as described below.

Any college employee may request the formation of an ad hoc committee. Requests should be made by memorandum to the Vice-President for Academic Affairs and should include the following information:

- a. Purpose of the committee
- b. Rationale/nature of the issue to be investigated
- c. Optional: who should be considered for membership on the committee (e.g., faculty, staff, administrators, students, employees from particular operating units of the college)

STAFFING OF COMMITTEES

Staffing assignments

Standing committee staffing assignments shall be made each academic year by a Committee Staffing Working Group consisting of representatives of the Committees Committee, Faculty Senate, Support Personnel Advisory Board, and the Vice-President for Academic Affairs. All college employees shall be polled each year to indicate their standing committee assignment preferences and the results shall be used by the working group to staff the committees.

Ad hoc committee staffing assignments shall be made as needed by the working group, which may use a formal or informal poll to gauge employee interest in serving on the committee.

In all cases, the working group shall make its best effort in staffing committees to:

- honor employee preferences
- provide wide and balanced representation from all academic and support units, campuses, and sites
- best serve the needs of the college.
